PECULISRITIIS OF THE YEAR 1893.-A study of the calendar of 1892 will show that the present year will have some pecu'i rities. To begin with it commenced and closes on burnday, and contains all or part of 53 weeks. Each of the seven days of the week has the honor of being the first day of at least one month. Three of the months begin on Wednesday, while Sunday, Thursday and Saturday are each the natal day for two months. There are three months, April, July and December, that cover part of six weeks each. Washington's birthday came on Wednesday, and Decoration Day and the glorious Fourth of July fall on Tuesday, Thanksgiving Day will fall on Thursday, the last day of No-vember, and will be the latest Thanksgiving celebrated in the last decade. In fact it can nev r be any later in the year. Old Santa Claus will visit us on Monday. As this is the world's fair year, all the peculiarities are excusa-

SHIP DISCIPLINE.—It often happens that when the master of a ship serves out an exemplary punishment at the beginning of a voyage he has little oceasion to repeat it, for the crew realize that he intends to be "boss." On a recent cruise of one of the ships of the white fleet a sailor was to be punished for disobedience, and the crew lurked about the deck to learn what would be done with him. The captain lowered the offender's grade, thus reducing his shore leave, then ordered him to be put in the caboose. As he was being led away the captain added: "In solitary confinement for five days;" a moment later, "on bread and water," and final-ly, as the culprit reached the hatchway, "cut off his telegraps." "cut off his tobacco." The men were awed by the severity of "the old man," and there was not another arrest on the voyage, even though the captain relented and freed the man after the first day of his confinement.

Equality of rank there can never be equality of wealth there can never be; equality of intellect there can never be; equality of influence there can never be. But equality of hopes, equality of aims, equality of essential happiness, equality of pure and true thoughts, there may be; and equality of common destiny there is.
